

Australia Credits

When researching courses in Australia remember that Semester 1 in the UK is Semester 2 in Australia and vice versa! Please note that level 100 courses (first year courses in Australian universities) are very general courses, more equivalent to A-Levels than degree work and are not going to be suitable for you (unless you are taking an introductory course outside of your degree subject as a 'free choice' option). Students in their second year at The University of Manchester should typically take Level 2/200 and 3/300 courses at Australian universities.

All guidance on credit load is based on a student replacing 60 University of Manchester credits per semester. Students will also need to be mindful of minimum credit requirements for full-time status for visa requirements.

Australian National University

Credit System/Standard Workload (and course catalogue links)

A normal full time load at ANU is 24 units per semester (each course typically carries 6 units).

Course Catalogues:

<http://programsandcourses.anu.edu.au/Search>

Course Timetables: <http://timetable.anu.edu.au>

Restrictions: Law courses are only for students enrolled in an LLB.

University of Melbourne

Credit System/Standard Workload (and course catalogue links)

A normal full time load at the University of Melbourne is 50 credits per semester (each course typically carries 12.5 units).

Course Catalogue: <http://coursesearch.unimelb.edu.au/>

Course Timetable: <https://handbook.unimelb.edu.au/search>

University of New South Wales

Credit System/Standard Workload (and course catalogue links)

A normal full time course load at the University of New South Wales is 24 credits per semester (each course typically carries 6 credits).

Course Catalogue: <https://www.handbook.unsw.edu.au/>

Course Timetable:
<http://timetable.unsw.edu.au/2022/subjectSearch.html>

N.B. UNSW operates a 3-term academic calendar. In order to meet the courseload requirements of a fulltime semester exchange, students follow a "Tailored Term" system, which incorporates extra teaching time in August to Term 3 and in January to Term 1. The full course catalogue is not available in these additional blocks, which consist instead of specially designed courses for exchange students.

Restrictions: Business, Psychology and Law; core Law courses are not available

University of Queensland

Credit System/Standard Workload (and course catalogue links)

A normal full time load at University of Queensland is eight units per semester (each course typically carries 2 units).

A full list of courses available for exchange students can be found by going to: <http://www.uq.edu.au/studyabroad/what-can-i-study> and typing your search under the second search field – ‘search courses’.

University of Sydney

Credit System/Standard Workload (and course catalogue links)

A normal full time load at the University of Sydney is 24 units per semester (each course typically carries 6 units).

Course Catalogue: www.usyd.edu.au/courses

Restrictions: Some highly sought after units in the following areas do have enrolment restrictions:

- Architecture
- Media and Communications
- Art Workshops
- Music

University of Western Australia

Credit System/Standard Workload (and course catalogue links)

A normal full time load at UWA is 24 units per semester (each course typically carries six units).

Course catalogue: <http://handbooks.uwa.edu.au/search?type=courses#units-tab>